Hal supports closely-held businesses and executive teams with accounting, financial, and strategic planning services designed to maximize profitability and growth.

Practicing accounting for nearly 30 years, Hal's broad expertise in operations and finance is highly valued by owners, CEOs, and CFOs, for whom he identifies and implements organizational change to help businesses realize significant financial advantages. Delivering personal service that addresses each client's individual needs, Hal provides firms and institutions of all sizes with practical strategies that may range from setting up basic accounting and internal controls to introducing a banking relationship or developing and executing a short or long-term business plan. Utilizing the expert resources of CPA Financial Group, LLC, the financial services affiliate of St. Clair CPAs, P.C., Hal assists clients with an integrated, full-service approach to strategic planning that includes accounting and auditing, financial statements, tax strategies, business consulting, insurance, investments, employee benefits, retirement benefits, and executive wealth management.

Over the course of a career noted for its strong client relationships, Hal has developed special expertise in importing, wholesale operations, construction and real estate. Within the real estate industry, his experience encompasses shopping center development and syndication transactions for affordable housing projects. For clients in these and other industries, Hal provides business tax planning, personal and estate tax planning, projections and forecasting, document preparation for financing, daily accounting operational design and monitoring services, employee compensation programs, buy-sell agreements, shareholder agreements, transactional support for mergers and acquisitions, and as an Investment Adviser Representative of Commonwealth Financial Network, offers critical financial planning, among other services. His commitment is foremost to helping clients build efficient businesses while preserving and growing wealth.

Hal received an M.S. in Taxation from Widener University and a B.S. in Accounting from Gettysburg College. He resides with his wife and two children in Lafayette Hill, Pennsylvania.
